

This year the staff of "Straight from the Horse's Mouth" is happy to dedicate this yearbook to our Graduates. These are the people who will be leaving Banting after Year Four and also to our first batch of year five grads, many of whom have grown with Banting from the beginning. We hope they are as proud of Banting as we are of them. And so, Grads, we send you on your way with a wish of happiness and prosperity.

Banting Is More Than All This . . .

It's People . . .

Editor-In-Chief Mary Murray Staff Advisor Mr. Milhausen

Principal's Message

In the 1971-72 Yearbook, Mr. Van Horne, our past principal, said that our challenge was to change Sir Frederick Banting from a building to a school - a place of learning - a place of tradition - a place of friendship - a place of respect. From my experience with all of you this year I feel that you have done just that, and I am sure that this, our 1972-73 Yearbook exemplifies these qualities both verbally and pictorially.

Nothing of value is accomplished in a school without effort, a sense of purpose and enthusiasm. As I write this message I find it easy to recount so many of the valuable and worthwhile goals this school has achieved - from Sport Spotlights to Masterful Music; from high academic achievement to an unparalleled level of understanding and attitude; from excellent theatre to athletic prowess. In fact, through all of you, staff and students, the school has proven its mettle in all areas of endeavour. This yearbook then is our record.

To Mr. Milhausen, staff advisor, to Mary Murray, the student editor and to the year-book staff, I would like to express a sincere thanks on behalf of the whole school for their time, effort and hard work in producing this 1972-73 Yearbook.

For those who read it now it will bring joy and laughter; for those who read it in the future years it will bring back happy memories.

Maxwell Roberts

Vice Principal's Message

The school bell rings; it's ten to nine And students rush to class on time, But some are late; the teachers frown And mark this misdemeanor down, A few decide that they will spend Their period one for better ends. The library, washroom or far east door Offer them learning worth much more. And some in class with brazen nerve No homework done, no detentions served, Decide to use the time in jest And put the teacher to the test. Down in the V.P. 's waiting room A few await their fate with gloom. The lates, the skippers, the jesters too Discuss just what he'll likely do. From inside the office a "next" rings out And a brave one enters ere the cry's a shout. What is it like behind that desk? Does he really enjoy it, or is he vexed At having to spend his entire day With classroom problems and teacher dismay, On calls to cover, timetables to plan, Examination conflicts, high jinks to ban, Irate parents, student complaint, Youngsters with problems, a boy that's no saint.

Does he really feel that his day's worthwhile? Can he really say "Banting's best" with a smile? A calmer voice comes from inside the nook -If you want an answer, just look through this book, For it's here that young people prepare for their life, And this cannot happen without planning and strife. If it brings disappointment, it brings pleasures as well. A few of the highlights this surely will tell: Our Fred's Folk's "Deep River" from dimly lit stage; The cheerleaders yelling with joy or with rage; The young Banting Broncos, their faces in sweat, Striving to make this their best effort yet; The drama club, choir and our first class bands; The chess club, student's council, and loyal Banting fans. But over it all surely friendship's the rule That has helped Banting become London's very best school. For with friendship the office, the teachers and young Can unite in the pleasures of learning and fun. One word to our seniors as you wend your way To some further learning, employment or play. Many thanks that you've given this school on the hill Your talents, your spirit, your indomitable will. "To try is to Triumph" you've shown this is true; May success and good fortune continue with you. And finally, thanks to all those who are here From the V.P. who's had a most happy school year.

Banting To Britain

This year has got to be the highlight for the music department of Banting. It has been filled with excitement and success. The Sr. Band and Choir have fulfilled the five-year plan to be the best of musical groups. The junior organizations have become distinct-ive musicians in themselves who will further strengthen our department in future years. But most exciting of all is the trip to Britain. Through cooperation and plain hard work we are able to go to Britain this summer. After all where else would you expect such a top band and choir to go?

The Executive's Message

Education is not a dispensation of facts and figures but is an experience which can be rich, warm and rewarding. However, an ideal educational system has several requirements: There must be proper interpersonal relationships established throughout the whole strata of learning so that a workable rapport exists between the administration and staff and most essentially, between students and teachers.

Undoubtably, there is also a need to recognize and possibly to unify the philosophies of educators and students with respect to the distinction between training and education. One doesn't have to go to an institution of formal learning simply to become acquainted with a future profession, she attends these schools and colleges to learn, "how to learn".

Surely, here is where the success of our educational process lies: in realizing that our schools are not designed as social preserves for the development of poor kids into rich adults but as institutions able to equip students with the tools required to survive in the harsh, lonely, secular society of today.

The development of these instuments of learning; the ability to recognize a problem and to know a process by which to discover a solution - this individual outgrowth is the goal of our educational system - not to produce 18 yr. old specialists with predestined futures but simply to assist in the maturation of a well-adjusted student able and willing to appreciate the values and opinions of those around him.

Finally, educators have realized the need for individuality in education but the resultant liberalism which has swept throughout the ministry following the Hall-Dennis report, threatens to be almost as destructive as it is beneficial. Today, you have first year students imprisoned and bewildered by an unknown freedom. Not until year four or five have students become familiar enough with these tools of learning so that they may be on a self-directed and self-motivated program.

In this light, the role of the teacher becomes to, in a five year period, render himself obsolete. To progress from the position of an instructor to that of a resource person.

In this brief summation, I have included a challenge.

We as students must exercise objectivity in judging our educational stystem for we cannot depend on administrators to sight these shortcomings in our learning process. They, like the students often have a tendency to become blindly engrossed within their own cubes of concern. However, through cooperation students and educators may come closer to realizing an ideal educational system.

The challenge, the responsibility and succeedingly, the consequences are yours.

As editor of this year's yearbook I hope you will appreciate the time and effort that has gone into this, the third volume of "Straight from the Horse's Mouth". I feel that this book particularly reflects life at Banting through the creativity of our editors, the photographs of Tim Kingsmill and the talented art work of Tom Smart. A special thanks must go to the many helpers of this years staff; the typists, and the list-writers, without whose help I am sure the completion of the book would not have been possible. Although the work has often been hurried and frustrating, the satisfaction of finally meeting deadlines and seeing things through to completion have made it all worthwhile. The good humour and help of our advisor, Mr. Milhausen, often kept us from going completely over the brink during those hectic late nights. And so my thanks goes to my staff of editors, artists, photographers and helpers for their respective contributions.

SENIOR FOOTBALL

This year's team had to be one of the most enjoyable for me. The loss of outstanding players due to academic problems and minor injuries greatly affected the team's wonloss record but not team moral. This team attitude made it fun and a worthwhile experience for the players and coaches. Congratulations to Ray Burningham on his outstanding season and his selection by the team as the M. V. P. Also congratulations to Tom Morrison for the "Rookie of the Year".

COACHES: Mr. Sorton, Mr. Allen

Running on a platoon type system this year, the wrestling team managed to win some of their matches, while losing most of the others by only one or two points. In the London Conference tournament, Gary Dosa and Rob Borschel placed second in their respective weight classes while Mike Ferguson was third in his. The team itself placed a respectable sixth overall for a very fine season.

COACH: Mr. Uren

Volleyball

The Boy's Volleyball team did not have a winning season but competed effectively against strong teams. Volleyball in London and particularly at Banting has an exciting future. It is hoped that both junior and senior leagues could be organzied in future years. If it is possible to implement this plan then it would mean that a great many students will play and learn the skills of competitive volleyball.

COACH: Mr. Gawley

Hockey

The team had an excellent season leading the conference in defense and finishing second to Oakridge in the Western Division. With this being only the second year for bockey at Banting, the Broncos will certainly be contenders in the future.

Their record over the season was 24 wins and one loss for league and exhibition games. This team is Banting's first championship basketball team.

COACHES: Mr. Bushfield Mr. Sinker

Junior Basketball

The 1972-73 Junior Basketball team had a league record of ll wins and l loss which put them in first place at the end of the season. They beat South in the quarter finals for the city championships, then lost a close 31-29 game to Central who eventually won the city championship. The team developed greatly as the season progressed and should have a good season next year with two boys returning plus members of the championship midget team, moving to junior. A very enjoyable season for coach and players.

COACH: Mr. Dunlop

lst ROW: Hugh Grant, John Doan, Henry Tofflemire, Terry Gonser, Tom Drennan. 2nd ROW: Doug Wonnacott, Tom Meads, Gord Bentley, Dave Webber, Chuck Quigley, Mr. Dunlop.

Senior Basketball

Congratulations to John Jordan on being selected the M.V.P. for the third year in a row. (An honour well deserved.)

The team this year had a large number of rookies who played very well in their first season. These rookies, plus the outstanding veteran players made for a very strong contender.

Our objectives were three fold: a) To make the Purple and White Tournament at Western University. (We won the Pre-Christmas Tournament which gave us the number one seed in the Purple and White Tournament. We lost in the final game to Woodstock Huron Park.) b) To win the Western Division of London Conference and go on to WOSSA. (We lost in the division semi-finals to South.) c) To make the finals of our first annual Broncos Invitational Tournament and Clinic. (We lost to Owen Sound 63-59 in one of the most exciting games of the Tournament.)

Next year our objectives will be to fulfill our school motto: For two years we have TRIED. Next year we hope to TRIUMPH.

COACH: Mr. "C"

The Senior and Junior Boy's Gymnastics teams both had an extremely successful year. The junior team captured the London Conference title with first place finishes in four out of five events, while the senior team won both London Conference and WOSSA championships. All in all it was a privilege for us to work with such a fine group of talented athletes. Watch out for next year!

Golf Tournaments in the Fall saw very good representation from Banting. In the London Conference tournament, of 15 teams entered, the Broncos scored a total of 283 for four players to place fourth. Our individual honour went to Dan Creighton who, at 66 strokes, tied with five other players for third best score in the entire London Conference. We also placed well in the Spartan Invitational Tournament, hosted by Beck, when the Bronco Golfers stood third out of 14 teams, in the first of a four round elimination.

Brenda Gonder was voted M.V.P. They show great promise for next season with nine girls returning.

Junior and Senior Volleyball

Do you know Banting's finest? The Senior Girls' volleyball team, of course. Sometimes they win and sometimes they lose, but whatever they do, they do it with class - skill, strategy, humour, charm - oh, words simply can't express it. Come out sometime and see for yourself. These words from the sponsors,

- COACH AND MASCOT -Miss Golden

Banting's junior girls' basketball team finished the season in third place. Most memorable of all though, was the close team spirit between all numbers.

United We Stand?

If I could
I would take some on my mind
And leave it outside.
It loses its edge,
And dulls without use.

What is left behind Could easily carry this rattling corpse And operate the strings From overhead

While my body
Dances attendance;
That Something
Which is totally mine
Carsonile at the Sphinx -

Can touch ten million Grains of sand, Ten million faces And in the shade of an elm Drink dandelion wine

While my humble exterior
Satisfies the attendance takers,
I shall take my own census
Of all the leaves
Of the North American tremblin - aspen.

But the parts of my mind Have rusted together, And united We sit.

Incompetent rebellion.

But our helper
Opened up the warm doors
Mostly
It was the result of

Our trainers
Were impersonal

and we suffered

Inside the warm doors
All of us were crowding
Sharing
In the warm friendship
None of us
Had sense enough
to build
Our own globes
Of radiators
And perhaps fires

At all

We were happy

We though

Will have to suffer

Our own loneliness

In our own time

Perhaps then

We will build

Music is the thought of Poetry Written round a frame

My title's but an echo of me For what's in a name

It's moments few when love comes through But it can stay awhile

And our faces shield What's found inside For what's in a smile

And in all I've said

My movements too
I have so often lied

To be near is so fine
The words not enough
But I'm well satisfied

Remembering

A mournful air eludes discovery,
In the still house on the hill,
Misty grayness shrouds the emptiness
Whispering memories talk to you,
Rusty versions, ancient recollections.
Delicate dust-lace blankets faded floors,
Swirling in the sheer threads of the sun,
Settling slowly behind you.
Wayward cobwebs hand heavily,
Gently swaying in your rush of air.
Ghostly mounds occupy the darkened rooms,
In this forgotten realm,
Hushed sanctuary of revered memory.

The noble house, no longer a home Except for flittinger rememberance, Stands lonely on the hill.

Across the Room

She laughed Then looked away, I thought I saw her sigh.

I thought I saw, I thought . . . In those dark eyes A hint Of something we shared;

In the solitude Of a crowded Room.
